The area and measurements in this plan are approximate only. The measurements in this plan are architectural measurements which are measured between the external faces of walls (except for party walls, which are measured to the middle point of the party wall). You must rely on the area detailed in the strata plan as the area detailed in the final strata plan is the area that the buyer will own. The actual area of a lot on the strata plan will be less than the area of the lot detailed in this plan because distances are measured between the inner surfaces of walls on the strata plan. This plan is indicative only and no representation or warranty is made regarding the accuracy of the plans. Changes may be made to the plans as detailed in the seller's standard sale conditions.
